Belmont Park, N. Y., June 1.—Five favorites, two of which sported the Butler silks, romped home with the money today. On the other occasion Ambrose, a 9-to-20 chance, led the field to the back stretch and then things began to happen. Jockey Ball will carried him wide at the turn and for some days to come Jockey Ball will have an opportunity to cogitate on the futility of such riding. He was suspended on investigation as to why it was Ambrose should take the long-est distance between the two given points, and thereby come trailing in behind a field which was regarded as a soft spot for him.
